

There is a Good Time Coming

There is a good time coming. This dry weather will not last always. The astronomers tell us there is a dark spot on the sun responsible for our trouble at present, but time will change this and when the rain starts you will need new shoes, and winter clothing of all kind. We have the greatest line of heavy work-coats ever in Jasper. Our furs and drees goods for the ladies was never so great before. Our fall stock of Pingree-made and Walkover shoes is now in. Our Great Western heavy Shoes for men and American Boy shoes are all the talk when it comes to quality.

Don't forget The King Bee Hot Blast Heater. There never has been a stove sold in Jasper equal to it. It's a nice looker. It's a clean stove. It has the draw grate that will let any clinker out at bottom that might form. It has a large ashpan. It has a patent screen at the top that will not let this stove puff, like others do. You get more heat with the same fuel. You can keep fire better over night. You sure get your money's worth when you buy a KING BEE. Try it. Come and see your Humble Servants,

A Surprise at Corders'.

Yale and Bert Corder were the "victims" of a real, old fashioned surprise party last Friday night, their impromptu guests consisting of practically the entire membership of the Baptist Sunday school, who met at the church about 8:00 o'clock and swooped down on the Corder home under cover of darkness. Yale answered the knock at the door, and was swept off his feet by the storming party, and the whole stronghold had to capitulate at once. The captors generously proclaimed an armistice and set about unloading rations at a great rate, which, after a few social hours, most pleasantly spent, the whole party attacked and demolished. At a late hour noses were counted and it was discovered there had been no casualties, so after declaring unanimously that they had had the time of the season the attacking party mustered out their forces and dispersed. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Lear, Misses Martha Mooter, Nellie Brown, Ida Thomas, Carrie and Minnie Snyder, Emma and Minnie Busby, Ida Teeter, Frankie McMullen, Rita Brooks, Letha Buzzard, Lena Owings, Maggie Teeter, Messrs. Roy and Max Carter, Elmer Joiner, Reuben Brown, Earl White, Frank Brooks, Ollis Owings, Glen Buzzard.

HOW ANDREW KELTNER MET HIS DEATH

Story as Told by Twin Falls News.—Burial at Salem Friday.

John Keltner and J. M. Sanford returned from Twin Falls, Idaho, last Friday morning, bringing with them the body of Andrew Keltner, the former Jasper man who was burned to death in the Idaho town a week before. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Requa at the M. E. church at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon and the remains were laid to rest in Salem cemetery, southeast of Jasper. A large crowd attended the obsequies.

The Twin Falls News tells of Mr. Keltner's death as follows:

"Andrew Keltner, 45 years of age, a bachelor, and an employe during the last three years of the Weeler Lumber Company, was burned to death early Thursday morning last, in the Eureka hotel of this city, which was totally destroyed, together with an adjoining building owned by George H. Moore, proprietor of the St. Regis bar.

"Soon after the embers were cooled, the management of the hotel began to count noses of the lodgers, and it was discovered that one was missing. This unfortunate was almost immediately recognized as Keltner. His room had been located almost over the kitchen, and he had been seen, in the beginning of the excitement among the roomers, to have thrown some of his clothing from a window. The supposition is that he remained at the work of saving his effects until he was overcome by smoke, inasmuch as the last seen of him alive by the spectators was in the hall at which time he appeared to have been making his way downstairs. Just then the floor went down and he was lost to view.

"The fact that one life had been lost concluded Chief of Police Lewis Reaume to assume control of the scene of the burned structure about 7 o'clock, and under his direction an investigation of the debris were undertaken, in which there were many willing hands offered as assistants.

"Very few minutes had elapsed after the search began until the charred remains of the dead man were found.

"Keltner was a much-esteemed citizen of the city, and in the capacity of foreman of the lumber yard where he was employed, had extended his usefulness to large extent. His acquaintance was wide also throughout the county."

Lost Their Moon.

A black cloud has settled over the athletic sun of Jasper, Mo., since the departure of the Moon, and the members of the planet are frowning on the idea of their school taking part in rowdyish sports in which other common schools participate. Secretary Gray of the school league received a letter from Jasper Saturday stating that the directors disapproved of athletics and asked that they be dismissed from the league.

The Carthage people regret the loss of Jasper, for when their name appeared on the bill board the crowds turned out four deep.—Democrat.

One of the exhibits which the Department of the interior will make at the national corn exposition in Omaha during December, has not been shown before, neither is the device manufactured as yet for sale. It is a mechanical piano and violin player, which furnishes music almost perfect in all of its tones. The player will be installed in connection with the department exhibit and give variety to the music of harvesting machinery and other machinery.

Former Jasper Girl Dead.

Mrs. Frank Maslonga, who a few years ago was known to Jasper people as Miss Mary Atkinson, died last Sunday of typhoid fever, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Atkinson, at Webb City. The remains were brought to Jasper and on Tuesday afternoon were interred in the Brethren cemetery, 3 miles south of town, after funeral services at the church there.

The Atkinson used to live out five miles northwest of Jasper, but moved to Webb City several years ago. Mary, their daughter, married Frank Man longa a few years afterward, and they made their home in Pittsburg, Kans., until very recently.
